BLACK FRIDAY SUITS.

Injunction Against the Bull's Head Bank.

BUSINESS FOR THE MARCH TERM.

Application was made on Saturday last to Judge Lawrence, in Supreme Court, Chambers, on behalf of John M. Furman, for an injunction restraining the officers of the Buil's Head Bank from paying five per cent dividend on the 1st of March, or delivering or paying any dividend until the lawful by a judgment in the courts; and, further, until the order of the Court, from issuing any stock of the par value of $10 cash, in lieu of the certificates of the old stock of $200,000. A temporary injunction was granted, and the whole matter will come up for argument this morning.

against Jay Gould, for commissions on the pur-chase of gold on the memorable Black Friday, motion was made before Judge Sedgwick, in Special Term of the Superior Court, to have the matter sent before a referee for examination. The motion was denied, on the ground that it was more properly a case to go before a jury.

An attachment was issued some time ago against the property of Gleeson, alleged to be implicated in the Buffalo and Erie bond forgeries.

A motion was made before Judge Lawrence, in ment, but the matter was adjourned one week.

ted to Ludlow Street Jail by Chief Justice Shea, of the Marine Court, for contempt of Court in certain references in his printed points in a case to Judge McAdam, a writ of habeas corpus was ed on Saturday by Judge Lawrence, in Supreme Court, Chambers. Meantime the accused attorney remains a prisoner in Ludiow Street Jail.

Suit has been brought in the United States District Court by the United States government to recover from the New York and Harlem Railroad Company $100,000 claimed to be due for taxes and penatties on the undivided net earnings of the company for the past six or seven years.

Christian Lorenzo, arrested some time ago charged with being engaged in illicit distillation, the particulars of which have been already reported, was held by Commissioner Shields to swait the action of the Grand Jury.

IMPORTANT RAILROAD SUIT. A suit has been brought in the Supreme Court by Ernest Caylus and John de Ruyter, survivors. against the New York, Kingston and Syracuse Ratirosd Company and other defendants. This action is brought to recover damages for an alleged misrepresentation as to the mortgage bonds of the company. In 1870 the Rondout and Oswego Railroad Company, according to the allegations set forth in the papers, was a New York railroad corporation, afterward merged into the new compan, just named as legal successors, and William B. Litchfield, with E. C. and E. D. Litchfield as sureties, became a contractor for building and completing the road then in progress. The prestdent and directors of the railroad, being the same persons who had held these offices in the Rondout and Oswego Railroad, resolved to mortgage the property of the road for $4,000,000. The bonds issued under the $4,000,000 mortgage contained no aliusion to the prior mortgage, and were entitled Consolidated First Mortgage Bonds New York, Eingston and Syracuse Railroad Company." In Octover, 1872, the plaintiffs, as further averred, agreed with the Litchfields to furnish from rails for the road, and, in payment, were to take notes secured by first mortgage bonds. The plaintiffs at the time they recrived the bonds relied on the representation which appeared on the face of the bonds, y which they purported to be first mortgage bonds. The complaint was demurred to as not stating a cause of action. The desendants claim that they did not intend to defraud or misrepresent; that the recorded mortgage was reserved to in the bond, and that an examination of this mortgage would have apprised them of the existence of the Ronocut and Oswego mortgage. The plaintiffs claim that the defendants are liable if they made an untrue representation; that the purchaser of a railroad bond is not bound to examine the mortgage as against representations which are made on the face of the bonds. The demurrer was argued before Judge Van Vorst, at Special Term of the Supreme Court, who, after the argument, took the papers, reserving his decision. Kingston and Syracuse Railroad Company." In

THE COURTS FOR MARCH.

There are heavy calendars in all the branches of the State courts for the March term. The suits embrace the usual mixed character of civil litigations; suits against railroads, banks, insurance compunies and other corporations; suits involving important questions in trade and finance, the nature of contracts, the construction of wills and

The General Term of the Supreme Court will be held by Judges Davis, Brady and Daniels. A good many cases argued at the last term are still undeeided, and it is propable that decisions in the most of them will be given on the reopening of the Court. Judge Van Brunt will nold the Special Term, Judge Lawrence Circuit, Part 1; Judge Van Vorst Circuit, Part 2, and Judge Dononne Cham-

Vorsi Circuit, Part 2, and Judge Dononie Chambers.

In the Superior Court the General Term will be held by Judges Sedgwick and Speir; the Special Term by Judge Curtis; Trail Term, Part 1, by Judge Monell, and Trial Term, Part 2, by Judge Freidman.

In the Court of Common Pleas Chief Justice Daly and Judges Loew and J. F. Daly will hold the General erm, Judge Robinson Trial Term, Part 1, and Judge Larremore chambers.

Judge Barrett will continue to hold the Court of Oyer and Terminer. A good many cases are waiting trial, but they are all of commonplace thatacter. John Scannell, whose case has been on the Calandar for a long time for retrial, will be fried as soon as the Beecher-Tilton trial closes; but this is, of course, one of those things that is very uncertain.

The March term of this court commences this morning, with a heavy calendar and an increasing pressure of work upon the judges helding trial terms for the month. It would be a great relief to the judges of this court, and, what is of far greater consequence, an incalculable benefit to the large number of suitors thronging the court, were the proper authorities to provide the neceswere the proper authorities to provide the necessary accommodation for the full and efficient working of the judicial staff. The law provides, and has supplied the requisite judicial and clerical force for the holding simultaneously of four parts of the court for trials of cases by jury, but for want of a court room Part 4 has not jet ocen organized, and consequently the work of each term, which should fall upon four judges, is thrown upon the three judges according to their assignments, for which number out court room is provided. For the coming term the assignments are as follows:—Part 1, Judge Alexander speaking; Part 2, Chief dastice Shea; Part 3, Judge Josenimsen. The number of cases on the calendar aggregates 000, giving to each of the judges 300 causes to dispose of during the term.

GAS MONOPOLY. .

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD :-Your paper of the 18th inst. published the result of a suit brought by the Metropolitan Gas Com-pany against Mr. J. Pierrepont Morgan, of Fortyfirst street, for the recovery of a gas bill which he refused to pay, on the ground that the company charged him $2.75 per 1,000 leet of gas, while they were charging only $2.25 to other customers who happened to live within the limits of the Mutual were charging only $2 25 to other customers who happened to live within the limits of the Mutual Gas Company. Judge Speir directed that a verdict should be endered in layor of the company, but at the reduced rate, denying the company the right to charge two rates.

Now Mr. Morgan, being a rich man, cared probably very little for the difference between the two rates, but he wanted what he considered to be right and he got it. If the company could not, in a court of Jusque, obtain the sroitrary rate from a customer who chose to contest it, they certainly have no right to claim it from the rest of their customers, and not only they ought to be made to charge a uniform rate to all, but also to refund to all those that have paid the high rate the difference between the two rates. The verdict shows that if all the lil-favored customers would let the company sue them for the smouth of their built they would get the same advantage as Mr. Morgan did. Why, then, should not some city official, the District Attorney for example, who represents the people, step forward and she the company on behalf of the people and compel them to refund that which they had no right to claim, still less to collect? In these hard times, when working people grown under a reduction of wages and the high cost of living, it would be a blessing to them to have this overcharge refunded to them, which they would invest in warm conthing or better food for their wives and children; and if it was acceptable to Mr. Morgan, a large capitalist, to be to all the poor people who have to submit to the rule of the monopolists. There is not the slightest doubt, oesides, that if any one of those poor people had assumed the same position as Mr. Morgan ne would nave nad his gas cut off, bits meter taken away and his bill deducted from the deposit money he is compelled to make in order to have the gas brought into his premises, and the balance, if any, paid to him after a good deal of red-tapism, which would have consumed a good deal of his time. He would then have been left without gas, without his legitimate right, and probably turned out of the company's offices, with the sneers of all the employés, from the president down to the errand boy. But with Mr. Morgan it was different, he was a rich and induential man. He could sue the company for damages if they should be so bold as to cut off his gas and adopted the course of suing him for the amount of their bill, in which they were deleated, as they could not compel him to pay for what he said they had no right to claim. Now, Mr. Editor, you are always so ready to stand by the side of the oppressed and to point out abuses of all kinds, we think this is all as farant as any of them, and which you ought to ventiate until justice is done to the poor as well as to the rich.
